

Postgraduate Student Research Club „Creative Slavdom” is pleased to invite students and postgraduate students to participate in

1st International Scientific Conference

Slavic inspirations and innovations

WHEN: 29th May 2017.

WHERE: Faculty of Languages of the University of Gdańsk, 55 Wita Stwosza Street, 80-312 Gdańsk, Poland.

LANGUAGES OF THE CONFERENCE: all Slavic languages.

APPLICATIONS: please fill the registration form at the address <https://goo.gl/forms/i0lValtySL4aVufA3> until 24th April 2017.

PARTICIPATION FEE: 35 EUR (150 PLN), payment on the account until 15th May 2017.

The purpose of the interdisciplinary conference Slavic inspirations and innovations is to create a place for the exchange of thoughts and opinions of the researchers who are interested in issues related to Slavdom. The main aim of the conference is to bring attention to the richness of Slavic culture which not only is a source of many innovations, thanks to its originality, but also is inspired itself by various foreign elements, creating this way its uniqueness.

We propose the following areas of reflection: inspirations and innovations in Slavic languages, methodology or exact sciences; Slavic culture and history as a source of inspiration; Slavic folklore and mythology in literature, art and cinema; ways of using Slavic elements in new media; innovation and Slavic inspirations in fashion; Slavic motifs in literature.

The above list is only a proposition and it should be a starting point for the search of Slavic inspirations and innovations in different areas. That is why we also encourage to submit applications which extend the listed issues.

The organizers provide a possibility to publish the papers in a reviewed post-conference volume.

The scientific supervisor of the conference: prof. Krystyna Szcześniak

Organizers: Elżbieta Benkowska, Ewelina Lechocka, Agata Skupin, Joanna Baum, Karolina Szymczak, Daria Hrynyszyn, Damian Stankiewicz – kreatywni.ug@gmail.com